

This social media video was posted on Instagram and Facebook to promote a web and radio feature on the difficulties of getting a coveted spot at a U-Pick apple orchard in Colorado. Our reporter Rae Solomon went to check out a busy weekend and find out the secret to getting a spot at the orchard and to share why it's such a cherished event each year.

Apple orchards are fighting an uphill battle against the climate on the front range. But that doesn't stop a few hardy horticulturists from making it happen. This week, rural and small communities reporter Rae Solomon and newsroom fellow Gabe Allen went to document a sunny fall day of family fun at Ya Ya Farm & Orchard in Longmont.
