Special Recognition Awards

Two special recognition awards are given to individual broadcasters in radio and television who are nominated by their peers via written presentations. A PDF letter should be submitted, using the CBA's digital entry platform, giving the name of the nominee, the award title and a description of the exemplary work which the nominee has performed in the community. Judging of these awards will be conducted by the Broadcast Pioneers of Colorado in conjunction with the CBA. These awards may or may not be given each year. There are no entry fees for these categories. Individuals may not win the same award in consecutive years. Only one individual will be recognized for the Rex Howell Award and the Harry W. Hoth Award.

The Rex Howell Broadcaster of the Year Award

Rex Howell was a pioneer Colorado broadcaster with service both on the front range and the western slope. He was a driving force behind, and the cofounder of, the Colorado Broadcasters Association in 1949. Rex was a dreamer and leader who followed his dreams with solid action and skill. The Rex Howell Broadcaster of the Year Award will be presented to someone actively engaged in Colorado radio or television broadcasting. Nominees may be on or off-air staff members. Emphasis will focus on an individual who, through leadership, skill and dedication is advancing the broadcast industry in our state and nation. Prior year winners are not eligible for at least one year.

The Harry W. Hoth Public Service Award

Named for Colorado Springs radio and television veteran broadcaster, and former CBA President, Harry W. Hoth on the occasion of his 50th year in broadcasting. This award is to honor a broadcaster who sustains public service to their community, state and nation. Nominees can be present or former Colorado radio and television broadcasters, on or off-air. Emphasis will be placed on services performed during their time in Colorado radio or television and a strong history of dedicated public service to broadcast organizations and non-broadcast associated organizations. Prior year winners are not eligible for at least one year.

Future Broadcasters Award

This category is an opportunity for students attending Colorado high schools and colleges to be recognized for their broadcast proficiency. All Colorado high school and college radio and/or television programs are candidates for this award. Each school's radio and television station can submit up to 3 entries, per station, at no charge. All entries must be submitted via the CBA's online entry platform by a designated faculty member or advisor. Students must choose from the existing radio or television categories, excluding R15 and 'Station of the Year', and content must have been written and produced during the 2020-2021 school year. School announcements or podcasts are acceptable entries. All Awards of Excellence rules apply to the Future Broadcasters Award, with the exception of rules 2, 5, 9, 13 and 15. Four winners will be selected (one radio and one television winner from the high school and college entries) by a panel of CBA-appointed judges. Student winners will be recognized with an Award of Excellence plaque at the CBA's Awards of Excellence Gala. Winning students will be notified in March and may attend with up to one guest at no charge.

- Payment must be received for all entries by Friday, January 14, 2022. Entries without payment or incomplete entry materials, by the due date, will be disqualified.
- Stations may not enter coverage of any statewide broadcast fund raiser involving all Colorado radio and television. (i.e. COVID, Wildfire Relief, etc.) Individual station efforts, outside of statewide campaigns, are acceptable.
- A single entry cannot be submitted in more than one category, regardless of different markets or stations. An excerpt from a long form entry may be submitted as long as it does not make up more than one third (1/3) of the long form entry.
- All stations are limited to six (6) individual entries per category.
- In the event that only one station submits in any category, across all markets, with no like-market or language competition, that entry will still be judged and scored. The average score of all first place winners in like-market categories will set the required minimum score for a single entry to achieve a first place win. These wins count toward Station of the Year points.
- All entries must be identified and associated with one set of call letters or school name for Future Broadcasters Award.
- All entries must be submitted and uploaded to Entries Express. Entries without a corresponding upload in the Entries Express system will be disqualified. Each entry only allows for a single audio/video upload. If your entry has multiple files combine them into one upload. No 3rd party audio/video hosting systems allowed. Mail-in entries will not be accepted.
- Some categories allow attachments to provide supporting entry materials. Attachments are ONLY allowed in PDF.

- Categories R23, R24, T23, T24 and T25 are for Public Radio and Television ONLY.
- "Station of the Year" awards are determined by the total points earned by an individual station across all categories. The station with the highest total of points is the winner in that station's respective market. In the case of a tie, the total number of first place recognitions received by the competing stations will be the determining factor. If first place recognition does not resolve the tie, then the station with the best finish in the "Community Affairs" category will be declared "Station of the Year" (R01 to R04 for radio and T01 to T03 for television). Any station with no competition in a market must achieve a total score greater than or equal to that market's competed for Station of the Year to also be recognized as Station of the Year.
  - First Place awards = 5 points each
  - Second Place awards = 3 points each
- Entry fees will NOT be refunded, for any reason, unless otherwise noted.
- Judging panels are created from broadcasting peers outside the state of Colorado, unless otherwise noted. The decision of the judges is final.
- All categories include a separate competition for Spanish-language entries. If only one Spanish-language entry is received in any one category and market, or if all entries are from one station, rule 9 will be invoked.
- Disputes, of any kind, about this program will be reviewed by the CBA Awards Committee.
- If you are unable to attend the ceremony to pick up your award and/or certificate, you are welcome to arrange pick up from the CBA's office, after the ceremony, at no cost.
